Mather Long List of 1 to 4
Point Declines—General Electric Advance Lost
and Close Is Lower.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Speculators for the advance encountered increased selling resistance and close is heavy.

Final quotations closed wide irregularly, strength a few specialties being offset by a rather long list of one to four point declines.

Call money held steady at 7 per cent all day, and there was no notable change in time money rates. Further gold shipments from England and the Argentine continued during the day.

Boston Federal Reserve Bank announced no change in its per cent rediscount rate, and Wall Street apparently has recovered from its fears of higher discount rates.

"Bear" Are Cautious.
Inability to attract a public following, coupled with the possibility of a sharp flurry in call money rates during the next fortnight, probably influenced a reduction in commitments by professional dealers.

On the other hand, selling was rather cautious, particularly because of the apparently overwrought short interest in the recent speculative fiascos.

Boehner held steady at 7 per cent all day, and there was no notable change in time money rates. Further gold shipments from England and the Argentine continued during the day.

CALIFORNIA PROHIBITION CHIEF QUIT'S "POSITION OF GRIEF"

E. R. Bohner Denies Resignation Is Caused by Indictment of Subordinates.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—An unusual decision had to be made by the prohibition business, E. R. Bohner, Federal prohibition administrator for Northern California, last night telephoned his office at the San Francisco Treasury Department at Washington.

Bohner, who has held his present position since March 1, 1927, declared that the recent indictment of six of his subordinates on charges of withholding seized goods from the Government had nothing to do with his resignation.

"I have no desire to be identified again with the prohibition department," Bohner said. "It is a position of grief."

Lake Erie Boat Towed to Port.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 19.—The passenger steamer Ossian Bedell reached port here this afternoon in tow of a Coast Guard cutter and a tug boat, after reports had reached the water front that the little craft, passenger-laden, was on fire and drifting helplessly toward the Niagara River. At the office of the New York & Ontario Ferry Co., operators of the Bedell, it was learned that the steel barge gear of the boat had broken. Aside from a drop of about 20 feet in Spanish pessets, the foreign exchange market showed little change.

Except for the increase from $2 to $4 in the annual dividend on the William Wrigley common, and the reduction of the weekly steel pipe review which showed that it was being maintained at a 4% rate, there was little in the news developments to influence the price movement. Iron is reported that "the steel industry is reducing its backlog in iron products, but output promises to continue virtually at capacity for the rest of this month according to forecasts of the market. Officials of the company said, there was nothing amiss, so far as they could learn.

Advance in Pullman.

Pullman developed unusual activity and strength under the impetus of buying which repeatedly dominated principally with houses buying large Chicago connections.

The local buying naturally followed the strength in the stock, but it was attributed largely to foreign interests. Other railway equipment shares were strong, including American Locomotive,

American Car & Foundry and Bald-

Followers of the copper shares had little to enthuse over in the

of the Anaconda Copper Mining prediction "I am sure they will be within reason."

STANLEY EPSTEIN SEEKS REVOCATION OF RECEIVERSHIP

Petitions Court to Set Aside Order Placing Ralph T. Finley in Charge of His Company.

THIS IS HIS FIRST REPLY TO SUIT

Three Creditors Filed Action and He Previously Estimated He Was $15,000 "in the Red."

Counsel for Stanley Epstein, founder and sole owner of Stanley Epstein, Inc., real estate, this afternoon petitioned Federal Judge Davis to set aside his action of yesterday in appointing Ralph T. Finley as receiver for the company under a bankruptcy suit filed June 8.

The petition alleged, briefly, that no notice was given of the petition for a receiver; that no bond was executed by the petitioning creditors; that the act of bankruptcy alleged in the petition was not an act of bankruptcy; that the allegations in the bankruptcy petition were not true; that the appointment of a receiver and the petition were not filed in good faith.

Judge Davis announced he would hear both sides at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The petition to set aside the receivership was the first formal action taken by Epstein to combat the bankruptcy suit. He had admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter that his one-man company, which had promoted numerous "Stanley Epstein Projects" throughout the city, was "in the red," insisting, however, that liabilities would not exceed assets by more than $15,000.

The bankruptcy suit was filed by three creditors—Max Levy, Harry Silverman and Julius Shafrazi, whose claims against the company totaled $20. Levy had previously sued for a receivership under the state law, but this action was withdrawn in order that the case might be confined to Federal Court.

Epstein, who is 24 years old, started in business seven years ago with a cash capital of $3, building up a business which during three prosperous years gave him an average profit of $45,000 a year. He used his credit to the limit in the construction and sale of apartment houses and other buildings during a boom period. He blamed his changing fortunes on a rapidly real estate market and the failure of financing company which he organized in 1927 for the purpose of expanding his operations.

The bankruptcy petition charged that Epstein had prejudiced the rights of the majority of his creditors by making payments to selected creditors and by diverting assets of the company to his personal use. An act of bankruptcy was committed in April, the petitioners alleged, when Epstein mortgaged his office and household furniture and equipment for $2500.

Van Sweringen Equipment Petitions
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The Erie Railroad today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue $8,270,000 equipment trust certificates to purchase new equipment. The Nickel Plate applied for permission to issue $2,400,000 equipment trust certificates. Both are Van Sweringen railroads.

Myers, of Ogdensburg, "there has been, of course, spasmodic liquor running and alien smuggling along the Canadian border, but this is a reference to a systematic war which is the first we have heard about it."

Said J. C. Wilson, Mayor of Rochester:

"We will be very glad to cooperate in any way to enforce any anti-saloon laws, including the prohibitory laws. We are doing our utmost to do so at the present time and intend to continue."

Major Paul Weiss of Durkirk, said:

"We aid the Government in all ways possible to stop this nefarious traffic (in liquor) and will we continue to do so."

Admits Speedboat Was Damaged by Collision, Not Gunfire

WINDSOR, Ont., June 19.—Carl Raymond of Monroe, Mich., admitted last night that the shattered windshield on his speedboat was due to a collision with a United States Coast Guard cutter, rather than to the machine gunfire with which he had charged the liquor chaser had greeted him Monday.

How "Stanley Epstein Projects" Were Carried Out

STANLEY EPSTEIN.

Governor Hears Speakers for and Against Terminable Permits

"without the consent of the Board of Aldermen."

"The bill says 'proper authorities,'" the Governor remained him. Remmers explained that in his opinion "proper authorities" meant the Board of Aldermen.

Remmers spoke as a representative of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association, and added that officially he represented "the public."

Under the terms of the bill the city could enter into an agreement with the street car company as to its valuation. Remmers said, but he did not explain what is a fact, that this valuation would be valid only as a basis for future purchase by the city and not as a basis for fixing fares. The latter provision was to be valid only if the bill was taken out at the request of Stanley Clarke, president of the street car company.

Constitutionality of the act was discussed by Remmers who quoted from an opinion given to Gov. Caulfield yesterday at the latter's request by Assistant Attorney-General Atwood. This opinion dealt with the clause limiting the act to the City of St. Louis which reads: "Provided this act shall apply only to cities having a population of 500,000 inhabitants or over, nor to counties having a population of 100,000 to $300,000."

Atwood's opinion was that the language of this section did not make the measure unconstitutional.

Promises Contract Hearings.

After Remmers finished, E. J. Russell, chairman of the Transportation Survey Commission, said that if the Governor should sign the bill the Survey Commission would begin at once to draft a contract for the city and company and would hold public hearings on its terms. He said the results of these hearings would be reported to the Mayor who probably would transmit the matter to the Board of Aldermen which also might hold public hearings.

John E. Hill of the Tenth Ward Improvement Association said that his association last night adopted a resolution opposing the bill.

Counsel Quit Operating.

After Remmers finished, E. J. Russell, chairman of the Transportation Survey Commission, said that he was not definitely opposed to the bill but that he thought Gov. Caulfield yesterday at the latter's request by Assistant Attorney-General Atwood.

Atwood's opinion was that the language of this section did not make the measure unconstitutional.

Summary of Speech.

The gist of the statement was that the association had been advised that the State Public Service Commission could not set aside any agreement which might be entered into between the city and the utility company that did not violate the police powers of the State, and if this advice were true, the city could negotiate contracts with utilities that would secure to the citizens rights and privileges they do not now enjoy. The statement also indicated the necessity the Public Service Commission bill be limited to paying off a $4,000,000 mortgage, and the association believed it would be difficult without a new franchise, and that foreclosure on the mortgage would result in loss to the citizens in both inconvenience and monetary value impossible to estimate.

An optimistic view of the progress anticipated was taken by Daves. He said: "At the beginning of the work the contribution of the naval experts would be a definite advantage to the navy experts to arrive at a definite for evaluation of the fighting strength of ships. These ships might differ in displacement, size of guns, age, speed and other characteristics, and yet such an agreed properly weighted value might be given to each of these different characteristics as to make it possible to compare, for example, the cruiser fleet or combined fleets of two navies.

The naval experts rise to a proper sense of responsibility, the use by statesmen of their yards will not be one which will invite peril from these extreme pacifists or extreme militarists."

MacDonald enlarged on the idea that naval powers other than Great Britain and the United States will be invited to take part in the forthcoming deliberations. Speaking of his meeting with the Ambassador, he said:

"We did not mean to threaten other nations to dominate other peoples, nor, indeed, did we mean to form alliances and pacts. We had no intention of presenting to the other nations any accomplished fact they can take or leave. I hope that neither the large states nor the small ones will have any doubt that they (Anglo-American negotiations) are not exclusive—they are inclusive."

Here Gov. Caulfield asked Weisenburger this question: "You say the Public Service Commission takes over the franchising. Isn't it true that if the city gives its consent it is mandatory on the Commission to grant the permit?"

Weisenburger replied that he did not think so.

"I am not injecting an opinion, but in asking a question, As I have tentatively construed it, it is mandatory."

Five Speak for Opposition.

After Weisenburger's argument Gov. Caulfield asked if any opponents of the measure wished to be heard. He had previously announced that he would give first an hour to one side and then an hour to the other, giving each side three hours if desired.

Five opponents spoke briefly for the opposition.

A. Stolzenburg, 4120 Peck street, a mechanical engineer, said he opposed the bill because it violated the provision of the city charter limiting franchises to 50 years. He said the streets of the city belong to the people and that the city should not waive its charter rights and turn over to a State body the power to grant franchises for use of the streets.

He is a member of the Twelfth Ward Improvement Association.

The blaze of secrecy surrounding the newly arrived Ambassador's hurried trip across the Grampian Mountains to Scotland has made all any material difference."

Governor: "What about the form of consent? Is it your understanding the city can object to the company's surrendering its franchise?"

Cave: "The bondholders could object."

Governor: "What is your idea of what the commission could do about it?"

Cave: "It could hold a public hearing."

Says Car Riders Pay Interest.

Governor: "Does the cost of money or the difficulty of getting money affect the fares? Do the car riders pay the interest?"

Cave: "Yes; if the company had to pay 5 1/2 per cent instead of 5 per cent ultimately the car riders would have to pay that additional rate."

Governor: "Isn't it true that the Public Service Commissions have ruled that fares shall be based on a fair return on the valuation of the property, and that the cost of money does not affect that?"

Cave: "The Public Service Commission is bound to take into consideration the cost of financing in fixing a valuation and if does so?"

Governor: "Would there be any difficulty in renewing bonds on account of an expiring franchise?"

Cave: "Yes; if your franchise expires in five years and you are not certain of a renewal you do not put any more money into the property but try to salvage what you can. That is the American Bar Association recommended the termination of a permit."

CLINIC WARNED ABOUT FILMS BEFORE FIRE

Cleveland Coroner Fixes No Blame, However, in Report on Loss of 123 Lives.

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., June 19.—Making no attempt to fix blame but pointing out that the Cleveland Clinic had been warned of faulty X-ray film storage, Coroner A. J. Pearce completed his inquest into the loss of 123 lives at the clinic by fire and poison gases after a month of investigation, with a report on file with official county records today.

The warning was sent to the clinic by the Ohio Inspection Bureau of the Fire Underwriters' Investigating Service April 2. The disaster occurred May 15. It called attention to the fire hazard in the type of film used at the clinic, urged use of another kind, and advised clinic executives that the film, if burned, would produce great clouds of noxious fumes.

The film was stored in the basement, made ignitable by means not determined in the investigation.

The report placed the number of dead at 123. They were killed by nitrogen peroxide gas mixed with carbon monoxide, the Coroner said.

$22,500,000 STOCK MELONS FOR TWO INSULL CONCERN

Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois to Issue New Shares.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Stock worth $22,500,000 will be distributed later in the year by the Commonwealth Edison Co. and the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, the two properties of Samuel Insull, utilities magnate, it is announced here.

Application was made to the Illinois Commerce Commission to issue additional stock by both companies in preparation for the increase in capitalization. Additional funds will be used an improvement program, it was announced.

The Commonwealth Edison Co. asked for permission to increase its outstanding stock 12½ per cent and the Northern Illinois Company sought an increase of 16 2/3 per cent of all outstanding stock. The former company will offer the additional shares to stockholders at $100 a share in the ratio of one to eight of their present holdings. The stock closed today at $260-263 and upon that basis the "rights" will be worth $18. The Northern Illinois Co. will allow stockholders to buy additional shares at $100 in the ratio of one to six shares now held. With this stock selling around 254 these "rights" are worth $22.

The distribution will be worth approximately $10,441,000 to the Commonwealth Edison stockholders and $12,425,000 to holders of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois stock.

TELLS WHY U. S. TIES UP RATING OF ST. LOUIS FLYING SCHOOLS

Lambert Airport's Insufficient Landing Area is Reason, Inspector Says.

Examination of the Universal and Von Hoffmann flying schools at Lambert-St. Louis Field for Federal rating is being withheld because the airport in its present condition presents an insufficient landing area, according to A. K. Koerbling, Department of Commerce inspector.

The Department of Commerce rates the amount of available landing space in all directions. Cold Water Creek, which follows a diagonal course across the airport, reduces the available landing area to approximately 1099 feet in an east and west direction for a portion of the field that is most generally used.

Under the city program for improving the airport the work of diverting the creek and grading the eastern portion of the field, to make the entire 554 acres available, has not been completed until fall. Low bidders for the contracts were announced yesterday and contracts will probably be let at a meeting of the Board of Public Service on Friday. The low bidder on the creek diversion and grading project was the construction firm of Cameron, Joyce, Elder & Elder, Keokuk, Ia., which bid $111,190. Three other concerns bid on the work. For putting in storm drains the Hayden Construction Co., Frankfort, Ill., was the lowest of 11 bidders with $100,111. The contracts will specify that work must start 10 days after the letting.

The city is now experimenting with material for runways. Department of Commerce school requirements call for landing strips 2000 feet long by 600 feet wide.

"I am a WOMAN—but for 6 years I dressed, fought and courted like a MAN!"

THE intimate day-by-day adventures told by herself of Mrs. Valerie Arkell-Smith who, as swashbuckling "Capt. Barker," fooled the world for six years.

What prompted this aristocratic, high-strung girl to hide her sex and assume the role of a man? How was she able to dupe soldiers with whom she fought, lovers who adored her—even the woman she married—into believing she was a man?

She bares her soul and tells all in "WHY I MASQUERADED AS A MAN." You have never read a story like it—the most amazing human document ever printed.

The Greatest Issue of the Magazine for Young Women

Smart Set is the gay, entertaining, up-to-the-minute magazine that helps young women make the most of themselves.

The brilliant July issue is print in color, brimming with the best fiction money can buy, and packed with more than a thousand hints on how to improve your beauty, intelligence, style, and personality.

6 masterly short stories—5 great novels—10 brilliant special features—3 touching poems—8 expert articles dealing with every problem of the young woman of today.

Note just a few of them below.

The Inside Story of the Lindbergh-Morrow Match

How would you like to know Lindbergh as he really is—to know what goes on behind those blue, fearless eyes, that smiling, inscrutable face? What was there about Anne Morrow Lindbergh that made her so beautiful? Women by thousands have failed to touch! Read "Our country's last" and you will know. An intimate accurate picture of Lindbergh, written by a woman who has known him since he was fourteen and who speaks with authority on his match with Miss Morrow.

The Passion that Poisoned a Queen

For her Sir Walter Raleigh flung his coat in the mud. Dukes, Lords, Prime-Ministers, and Generals tell like chaff before the whirlwind of her personality. Her name? Queen Anne of Great Britain. "She never had a happy love affair in her life. Her betrothal sin and her unquenchable passion was jealousy—and it defeated her. For every woman who is in love there is a great lesson in "THE WOMAN WHO NEVER GAVE," a remarkable biography written by Adela Rogers St. John.

Why Marion Talley Renounced Fame at Twenty-Two

The world could not understand why this lovely opera star kicked family to the door and the world's fame to her. Here she tells why. She wanted a beach and a ukulele instead of an opera stage and the plaudits of millions. She wanted to be herself instead of a celebrity. An fascinating life story as you will ever read.

Philadelphia Woman Inspired by McLean Example Plans National Movement.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—Mrs. George H. Strawbridge has started a movement among Philadelphia society leaders for a strict observance of the prohibition laws and eventually she hopes the movement will become national in scope.

In a letter to a number of persons prominent in society, she wrote:

"I am taking the liberty of addressing myself to you, as a representative Philadelphia woman, to inquire quite confidentially whether in your judgment it would be possible to constitute a committee of women of your own standing in the social world, who would interest themselves in creating sentiment for observance of the prohibition laws within their own circles.

"There has no doubt recently come to your attention the notable example set by Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington in this respect. I am sending you herewith a photostatic copy of the newspaper article which was published about Mrs. McLean's Easter break-fast party. I have every reason to believe that her courage in making this innovation in Washington society met with the hearty approval of President Hoover and of all others, like himself, who are trying to inculcate in our people at this time a more lively sense of their individual obligations as American citizens."

WON'T BE OBJECT OF CHARITY;

DIES OF STARVATION AT 70

Chicagoan Quits Home for Aged and Faints in Front of Delicatessen Shop.

CHICAGO, June 19.—A physician gave the cause of John Nelson's death as starvation.

Nelson was 70 years old. Not so long ago he lived at a home for old folks, but he ran away. He said he couldn't stand charity any longer.

He had a little money, and he engaged a small room at a hotel. The room rent took all his money. There was none for food; but at least he was able to put forth the appearance of a man who did not have to live on charity.

Yesterday he stood at the window of a delicatessen. The smell of food came through the open door from the steam tables. His eyes rested on the tempting window display. He fainted and died without regaining consciousness.

Anti-Smith Group Demands Resignation of Democratic National Chairman.

By the Associated Press.

ROANOKE, Va., June 18.—With nominees in the field for Governor and Attorney-General, and provisions made to co-operate with other states where similar groups might desire to continue the break with the Democratic party permanent, Virginia anti-Smith Democrats today looked to the Republican convention in Richmond, June 26, for support in their effort to wrest control of the State Government from the Democrats.

Dr. William Moseley Brown, the Washington and Lee professor nominated for Governor by the anti-Smith Democrats in State convention here yesterday, is known to have the support of several of the most active leaders in the Republican State organization. Dr.
Brown, in his pre-convention statement, expressed willingness to run as an independent if nominated by both conventions.

Dr. Brown and Capt. C. C. Berkeley, the nominee for Attorney-General, expect to conduct a vigorous campaign.

A 6000-word platform demands the resignation of Chairman Raskob, of the Democratic National Committee, and repudiation of State leaders.

George W. Kirk Matthews of Richmond, a former chairman, is authorized to name a committee to establish Washington headquarters, to "encourage civic righteousness and importance of action," and if deemed necessary "to perfect a permanent organization to combat every form of political serfdom."

GEORGIA FARMER IS ARRESTED ON PEONAGE CHARGE

W. D. Arnold Sr., Alleged to Have Held White Man and Negro in Servitude Near Plains, Ga.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Ga., June 19.—W. D. Arnold Sr., operator of a farm in Webster County, was held today under bond of $10,000 in Americus, Ga., on a Federal warrant charging peonage. A white man and four Negroes were in jail as material witnesses.

Arnold is charged with holding in servitude the white Claude King, and the four Negroes, John Vanover. The three other Negroes in the Clarke County jail are said to have worked on the Arnold farm.

The three, Tuck Bronner, Jordan Haywood and Joe Howard, will testify at the trial. A special session of court probably will be held early in July.

Arnold was indicted on the two charges by a Federal grand jury in the Athens division of court two weeks ago. They were not made public until last night.

Deputy United States Marshal E. C. Johnson went to the man's home, near Plain, Ga., to arrest him. Arnold said he was ill, and bond was fixed at his residence.

A month ago, Assistant United States Attorney A. E. Smith said Vanover came to Macon with a Webster County officer and reported he had been severely beaten by Arnold. He said Arnold had threatened his life if he dared tell of the whipping. Smith said the Negro's body indicated a severe lashing.

One of the indictment charges Arnold with holding Vanover from Dec. 25, last year. The other charged him with holding King from March 5 last year.

YELLOW BIRD FLYERSHe Was Guiding Spirit on Their Flight, Frenchmen Reply to His Message.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 19.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today cabled his congratulations to Jean Assolant, Rene le Feuvre and Armando Lotti Jr. for their trans-Atlantic flight from Old Orchard, Me., to Comillas, Spain, in the Yellow Bird.

The Colonel's message, addressed to all three aviators said:

"On returning to New York I have just learned of your successful crossing. Please accept my sincere congratulations and best wishes."

The Frenchmen immediately cabled him in answer:

"We thank you most heartily for your affectionate telegram. Our greatest claim to glory has been to have followed the route you traced two years ago with incomparable mastery in your flight from New York to Paris."

"An excellent example of courage, of tenacity, of science as a pilot and navigator guided us every instant of our route. We address to you our most cordial and respectful salutations."

Another cablegram was received from Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber, parents of the stowaway, Arthur Schreiber. The message said:

"Accept our thanks for kindness and tolerance shown our son by France's three heroes of the air. Extend our appreciation to Mr. Lotti Sr. and Mme. Lotti for their parental guidance toward Arthur."

The governmental receptions to-day were for the three aviators, the stowaway not being included. Schreiber will return tomorrow to the United States, probably aboard the Leviathan.

The aviators were taken by Laurent Eynan, Minister of War, to Premier Poincaré, who complimented their courage and praised their exploit. Later they went to the Senate where they were received and praised. They were to visit President Doumergue later this afternoon.

CALL MONEY BILL NOW LAW
Governor Signs Illinois Measure to Check Cash Flow East.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 19.—Gov. Emerson yesterday signed the call money bill.

The measure authorizes an interest charge at a rate greater than 7 per cent on loans of not less than $5000 which are secured by warehouse receipts, bills of lading, stock or other collateral security. The bill was designed to check the flow of money from Chicago to New York, when call money pays higher interest.

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., June 19.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh came back to work today.

After a three weeks' honeymoon cruise, during which he generally eluded reporters and photographers, the Colonel and his bride, the former Anne Spencer Morrow, made their first public appearance at Mitchel Field to see the start of the flight tests for the $150,000 offered for safe aircraft by the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

Lindbergh and his wife drove here in the Colonel's car, and on their arrival posed for photographers. After the pictures were taken the Colonel introduced to his wife reporters he remembered from the time of his trans-Atlantic flight.

The Lindberghs appeared ruddy and tanned after their cruise along the New England coast in the Colonel's new motor yacht. He wore a blue suit, the color in which he has appeared so often for the last two years. He carried his hat in his hand and his curly and sun-bleached hair was tousled by the wind. Mrs. Lindbergh wore a blue summer frock, a close-fitting blue hat and black pumps.

In an interview with reporters Lindbergh stuck to his custom of talking only about aviation. He made no reference to his honeymoon or to any of his plans, such as where he intends to live or whether he will immediately resume actual flying work. He is expected, however, soon to make a three weeks' tour of the Transcontinental Air Transport Line, for which he is technical adviser.

"Aviation is now on a commercial basis, the Colonel said, "but it is necessary to perfect planes before the average person can fly them as they now operate automobiles. Planes must be safe and more fool-proof. The airplane is not as yet a means of individual transportation."

The Colonel formally inaugurated the tests a short time after his arrival at the field. Carrying Harry Guggenheim, president of the fund as passenger, Lindbergh took off in a Brunner-Winkle biplane, one of the American entries, and a plane of the type which Elinor Smith used for her early endurance flights. The Colonel came to the tests as trustee and adviser of the Guggenheim fund, and although he is not a judge, he took up the biplane for his unofficial approval. The flight was his first since the marriage.

Two auto-gyro craft are among those which have been entered by 12 American and foreign engineers. Entries do not close until Oct. 1, when the tests end.

A "fool proof" plane is sought in tests which include level flight at 12 miles an hour; capability to glide three minutes with engine shut off at 28 miles an hour; a landing within a 100 foot space; a 300 foot take off; a variable speed in normal flight of 45 to 100 miles an hour; capability of the plane to fly "hands off" and ability to gain an altitude of 25 feet within 500 feet of the point of starting the take off.

The start of the tests also marked the return to actual flying of Mrs. Lindbergh who took her first flight with the Colonel early in the month in Mexico. During her flight in the Brunner-Winkle, which lasted five minutes, Col. Lindbergh lifted his wife into an Army Falcon biplane and soared back into the air.

When he landed after his first flight Lindbergh had to look for his wife who had driven away from the spot where he had left her in his automobile. Photographers who reached the field late began "shooting" Mrs. Lindbergh in the automobile, and she had sought privacy in the shelter between hangars where her husband found her.

The flight of the newlyweds was short, the Colonel keeping the fast Auto-gyro in the general vicinity of the Long Island flying fields. After their landing the Lindberghs drove off in the Colonel's car.

HUNGARY OK'S KELLOGG PACT
Legislature Ratifies Treaty for the Renunciation of War.

BUDAPEST, June 19.—The Hungarian Legislature today ratified the Kellogg treaty for the renunciation of war.

At the same time, it was announced by a Government Deputy, that no power could compel Hungary to acknowledge the treaty of Trianon, as such a step would prevent her from seeking revision. The treaty of Trianon was signed June 4, 1920. It set the boundaries of the nation, abolished conscription and restricted its armed forces.

ASKS FOR COUNTY PLAN FOR USING ROAD FUNDS

Baumhoff Explains Taxpayers' League Bond Suits Before
Chamber of Commerce.

Appearing before a special committee of the St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce, at Clayton Courthouse yesterday, to explain the motives of the suits pending in the State Supreme Court to prevent the County Court from exercising jurisdiction over the county's $10,000,000 road bond issue and $1,000,000 hospital bond issue, George W. Baumhoff of Keyes Summit took occasion to insist that a definite plan for the road expenditures be issued by the County Court.

The suits were filed by the County Taxpayers' League, in which Baumhoff is chairman of the Executive Committee, with him and several other property owners as plaintiffs also. In a written statement Baumhoff told the chamber committee:

"If our road bond funds are to be judiciously expended, improvement of streets in politically favored localities where property has been subdivided should cease, and the law should be complied with in the purchase of materials, machinery and supplies. No business concern would undertake the expenditure of $10,000,000 without a definite detailed plan, and we deem it advisable for the County Court to adopt such a course and furnish our citizens with a statement of a plan showing where and how the money is to be expended.

"It is a discrimination against thousands of our taxpayers, who have paid for street improvements through special tax bills, to have streets improved in favored districts without cost to abutting property owners, and an injustice to citizens generally to expend such funds in violation of the promise of the County Court that nothing but the best would be expended on streets in subdivisions.

"The Taxpayers' League and other relators in the suits have no political ambitions, and will heartily approve of the wise expenditure of these funds, but will oppose paying political favors at the expense of taxpayers. May we suggest that the County Court take the people into its confidence by announcing a definite, detailed plan of road construction and complete a farm-to-market system of highways. By so doing they will insure the good will and hearty support of all."

Charges Promise Was Broken.
Baumhoff added that "our officials lay too much stress on perpetuating themselves in office at the expense of the taxpayers." He said the Taxpayers' League welcomed the chamber's investigation of the suits. He stated that the league had opposed a previous bond issue proposed, which was defeated, but that when the $10,000,000 road bond issue was proposed last year, Fred Hollocher, chairman of the Campaign Committee for the County Court, and Fred Kerth asked him and the league to support the issue.

He agreed, Baumhoff said, to support it, provided none of the money would be spent in subdivisions and in a meeting attended by the County Court, County Highway Engineer Jablonsky, Hollocher and Baumhoff the County commissioners agreed that none of the money would be spent in subdivisions and expenditures in municipalities would be only on through streets connecting with county highways. The league is charging now that this promise was broken, and Baumhoff declared that in breaking it the Court had violated the law. He continued:

"It is not sought to tie up the funds or to deprive municipalities of their right to participate, but we question the authority of the County Court to allot $1,000,000 to municipalities and to spend according to their needs and under supervision of the city engineers, and we question the authority of the County Court to employ such engineers in violation of section 10.737 of the statutes."

Thinks Jablonsky Can Do Work.
In response to his protests to Presiding Judge Wehmeyer of the County Court against payment of fees of 5 per cent on contracts to the city engineers, Baumhoff retorted, Wehmeyer said: "What do you get 10 per cent? It's out of their allotment, isn't it?" Baumhoff questioned the statement that Highway Engineer Jablonsky did not have time to handle all the work, saying: "He has seven engineers and numerous field hands, overseers, inspectors and others who are not overworked. Elected as County Surveyor, he has failed to perform such duties and the County Court has employed additional surveyors and engineers to perform the duties for which he was elected, and for which he is being paid." Jablonsky was appointed Highway Engineer by the County Court.

Baumhoff told Forrest C. Donnell, chairman of the Chamber Committee, that the Taxpayers' League had 1200 members, all county residents. Asked by Donnell for specific objections to the road projects, he mentioned the current resurfacing of Big Bend boulevard in Maplewood, already concrete paved; the plan to improve Meramec Station road in Valley Park instead of a valley route connecting with Big Bend.

Baumhoff told the meeting the County Court did not attend the meeting. The hospital bond issue was not discussed.

FIELDS WILL STRIVE FOR KNOCKOUT IN BOUT WITH HORNER TONIGHT

WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPION WILL ATTEMPT TO PUT OUT LOCAL BOXER WITH BODY PUNCHES

By Damon Kerby

Jackie Fields, real name Jackie Finkelstein, of Los Angeles, National Boxing Association welterweight champion, who meets Joe Heisner next month in Detroit for the world title, will be the chief attraction on the outdoor boxing card tonight at the Battery Arena, Grand Boulevard and Hickory street, with Jackie Horner of St. Louis as his opponent. The fight program is under the auspices of the Walter J. Hatzfeld Post of the American Legion. Jack Tipps is matchmaker.

Whether the fight will be a real fight or just a little limbering up exercise for Fields will depend upon the quality of the opposition offered by Horner. There is no doubt of Fields' class after looking over his record, which includes two victories over Young Jack Thompson, a two-round knockout of George E. Baker, a kaya of 10-12-12, and victories over a number of other prominent welterweights of lesser caliber.

The luster of Fields' record was dimmed by his workouts here since his arrival Sunday. He displayed class in stepping around with local boys in gymnasium workouts. He showed a variety of left and right punches and proved to be fast and shifty on his feet. Indications were, however, that he will rely to a considerable extent on his left punch.

"That left to the stomach is his chief stock in trade," said his manager, Gil Rooney. "When they get that for two or three rounds they are ready to wilt. We will mix them up and use his right, too, but keep your eye on that left."

Fields said he would take no chances on letting the fight go the limit if he had a chance to get over knockout. "I'll be all right," said his chief. "I'll be all right, if his left," said Fields. "It wouldn't be great for me, with a championship match ahead, to play around and run into a knockout myself. If I can end the bout in the first round that's what I'll do."

Pulling the unexpected is just what Horner will endeavor to do. Horner is as determined as ever to make a fight of it while he has the chance. "Horner is quite a battler himself as a succession of 14 or 15 successive victories in the East attests. He is both tough and willing."

The class of the supporting card appears to be the 10-round bout between Lou Terry and Eddie Goldberg, lightweights. These two boxers, both graduates of the lo-

An eight-round event will bring together Earl Iszore, sparring partner of Fields and Al McCoy of St. Louis. The opener will be for six rounds between Ray Palmer of St. Louis and Roy Logsdon of Litchfield, Ill.

Palmer will go on as substitute for Jack Wilson, who was ordered last night by the examining physician for the State commission not to fight. Following an injury over Wilson's eye several days ago in a training bout.

Fator Is Handed First Suspension Of Riding Career

NEW YORK, June 19.—Laverne Fator, generally considered the best of present day American jockeys, has received the first suspension of his riding career.

Fator was set down for the rest of the Aqueduct meeting yesterday for a bad ride on Folkling, odds-on favorite in the second race, which finished far out of the money.

Fator's case, in addition, was submitted to the Jockey Club for further action. This means the great jockey will not be able to ride unless the Jockey Club exonerates him.

At the barrier went up for the second race, Folkling was caught in a jam and Fator took him up until the colt trampled the field. Then Fator turned him loose and Folkling began to move up. As he turned into the stretch Fator swung him wide and so much valuable ground was lost that the colt couldn't overtake the leaders.

Fator is contract rider for the Bacoco stable of Harry F. S. Slocum.

COCHET IS NO. 1 SEEDED PLAYER AT WIMBLEDON

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 19.—The draw for the Wimbledon championships beginning Monday placed William Tilden II, American tennis star, in the same half as Henri Cochet, French ace, who in the absence of Rene Lacoste was ranked No. 1 for the purpose of seeding. Jean Borotra led the other half of the field.

A final between Helen Wills and Betty Nuttall which the British fans had hoped for cannot take place, for they were drawn in the same half, but in separate quarters.

Miss Wills is in the top quarter with Miss E. L. Heine of South Africa. Miss Nuttall is in the second quarter with the French Mathieu of France. Senator Elisa de Alvarez of Spain is in the third quarter with the American player, Helen Jacobs, while Elsie Bennett of Great Britain is in the fourth quarter with Fraulein Auschitz.

REIGH COUNT AMERICA'S HOPE IN ASCOT GOLD CUP RACE TOMORROW

ONLY ONE U.S. STAR HAS EVER WON ENGLAND'S TURF CLASSIC

Associated Press.
SCOT, England, June 19.—Royalty and pageantry America's Reigh Count tomorrow seeks the climax to a sensational career as he battles England's prides of the turf in the Gold Cup at Royal Ascot.

In or lose, Mrs. John D. Hertz is to return her great 4-year-old to the United States for completion of his racing career, after that had its beginning years ago as a juvenile and reached its peak on the American circuit with the winning of the 3-year-old championship.

In striving to win the race for which he has been pointed since the Kentucky Derby last son, Reigh Count endeavors to duplicate the performance of James Keen's Foxhall, the only one to have won the long history of English turf fixture. Foxhall won the trick in 1882, 74 years in a row.

Only Nobility attends, although short of some of its by the absence of King George and Queen Mary, Royal As still retains much of the color pageantry that marks it as the most famous and most honorable race course. Time was an Ascot Heath, part of Royal Forest of Windsor. In days of Queen Anne it was laid for a race course, becoming 125 years ago. As it was on the King's land, the reigning monarch England always have taken a special interest in it and included four-day summer meeting their state engagements.

Unlike the Derby, where a half billion Britons of all classes dash their way into Epsom down Royal Ascot attractively nobility. The race is said to be the most exclusive in the world, admission being only through royal invitation. Like all English races it is up and down hill and laid out in circular style for a mile and six furlongs.

Irish English Hope.

Such is the setting for Reigh Count's supreme effort—an effort to test the best of thoroughbreds as the race is over two and a half miles of up and down hill running. Reigh Count demonstrated that he was ready to do so when he won the Coronation cup at Epsom from a class of much more highly favored runners.

With America's leading 3-year-old of last season the sole standard bearer for the United States, the race has taken on an international tinge with the best of England and France stables eligible among the English hopes are Iverness, which won the title last year; instead, winner of the Derby in 1928, Silver Fox, and the best in the green of Ireland will Baytown, Wavetop and Poor, which captured the Manchester Cup. France's best bets appear to be Lord Derby's Cri de Guerre and Baron Edouard, de Rothschild's Cacao.

Cornell Varsity

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 19.—A strong likelihood that absent Cornell University crew will have to be replaced for the intercollegiate regatta Monday because of illness.

Albert Johnson (N. Y.) youth is one of the most experienced men in the shell and his loss is seen as a blow to the chances of the Big Red varsity which has been picked to fight it out for the championship with California and Columbia. The probabilities are that he will be replaced by W. M. Vaneman, 4 in the junior varsity shell.

Al Johnson had no Washington zucchini out early, starting after the bridge and going beyond the finish in an easy pace, with California's covering a half-mile point on the return trip.

Conditions were ideal for plenty of work with sunny skies and a gentle southern breeze which scarcely ruffled the waters of the Hudson.

King Tut Has Narrow Escape From Drowning and Decides Ring Is Safest Place for Him

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MILWAUKEE, June 16.—King Tut, known to his home folks as Henry Tuttle, decided to end his vacation when he came near drowning in all time at International Falls, on the Canadian-Minnesota line, by tipping over in a boat and barely missing being drowned.

Previous to that time Tut had been taking life easy, having decided to recuperate after the strenuous campaign he went through from last October until well into April. When the capsized boat incident happened, Tut immediately wired his manager, Leo Levitt, at Minneapolis, "hurry and sign up for matches," as he considered ring battles safer than fishing in Canadian waters.

The King has been a very persistent challenger for Sammy Mandell's crown and hopes to get the championship in a title contest before now flies next winter. Some time ago the Cream City Athletic Club of Milwaukee offered Tut and Mandell a $40,000 purse for a 10-round fight at the lightweight limit, but it was passed up at that time. Now, so the reports have it, Mandell is willing to make the match for this summer, but he wants more than $40,000 hung up for the scrap. This battle would draw over $75,000 in either Detroit or Milwaukee and would undoubtedly go $100,000 in Chicago.

Meets Kaufman June 20.

As a starter after his month's rest, Tut will take on Pinkie Kaufman of New York in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden June 20. It will be the second time the two have clashed, for Mr. Kaufman mixed the beans plenty when he scored a technical knockout over Tut in Philadelphia about two months ago. Since then Tut had been anxious for another battle with his Eastern rival, but it was not until Kaufman was given a stiff guarantee that he accepted the return engagement.

Should Kaufman repeat his victory over Tut that would prove a costly affair for Young Mr. Tuttle, as he would lose his chance with Mandell for the lightweight crown and no doubt forfeit his right to meet Honey Boy Frazier in Boston a week later. It is sure taking a chance, but Tut wanted it, feeling certain that he can reverse the order.

Should the King win then he will be in line for some great matches, one of which will be with Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express Flash." These boys fought twice and put up wonderful battles, both being badly battered at the end of each encounter. And if he gets by Petrolle there will be Jack Berg, the British lightweight sensation, to deal with.

It surely looks like a very busy season for his royal highness King Tut.

A Real Plum.

When Tom McArchie gathered in the Max Schmeling-Paulino match for the Madison Square Garden Corporation he landed the one heavyweight plum that stands out at the present time. It is the match that the late Tex Rickard was working up to when he was taken off so suddenly. The date of the clash is June 27 and the place of combat will be the Yankee baseball stadium in the Bronx, New York.

It will be a great night for the "beef trust," as Mr. McArchie has booked nothing but heavies. Too bad Tom didn't get Knute Hance back from Europe to meet K. O. Christian again! Knute fought a big Italian recently and hit the canvas for the 10 count in the fifth round.

It seems a sorry plight to have two foreigners fighting in the U. S. A. for what may be termed the heavyweight championship, for that is just about what it amounts to, although Jack Sharkey will no doubt make a vigorous protest to any such decision.

What would really prove a great card right now is a return battle between Dempsey and Sharkey and have the winner meet the winner of the Schmeling-Paulino scrap for the title. Such a condition of affairs in theistic world just now would cause a big boost in the heavyweight division and put the gates up into the million marks.

Paulino is being picked by the "wall birds" to beat the German, but if Max will only keep his head and box as he can box he will

As to me to keep pressing in on Schmeling. Due to our different fighting styles, I can anticipate that Max will try to box at long range until he thinks he has this German boy weakened, and so I know my legs must be powerful enough to carry me in close constantly where my fists can do the necessary damage.

It is no secret that superiority at infighting ought to decide the winner. Schmeling's only hope of stopping me is to get to my body constantly for, without boasting, I doubt if any boxer can connect with my "button" heavily enough to daze me for more than a moment or so. If fight critics know I keep that "button" well protected and when, occasionally, a punch or two does land there—well, that

RESIDENT OPPOSED ON MERIT PLAN FOR JUDGES

Pennsylvania Republicans Force Hoover to Name
Divorce Lawyer Backed
by Railroad Executive.

CONFIRMATION OF
WATSON IN DOUBT

Kansas Senators Insisting on Appointment of Justice
Hopkins, Dry League Director.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—President Hoover's plan to improve the Federal bench has met with serious opposition from within his own party. His insistence on high qualifications for candidates for judgeships has antagonized Republican leaders who see the old rule of "taking care of our friends" and they already succeeded in defeating his proposal in one instance, and threaten to do so in another.

In filling a vacant judgeship in Pennsylvania a few days ago, the President was virtually compelled, by threats of political reprisals, to name a man who had failed to meet the tests imposed by the President and the Department of Justice. A similar situation now confronts him in connection with the prospective appointment of a Federal Judge in Kansas.

Mr. Hoover's intentions in the matter of judicial appointments as a part of his general law enforcement program, in so far as word, aims to increase public respect for the Federal bench by making it more respectable, and believes that one way to accomplish this is to divorce the bench from politics, and choose men for their character and ability. In this program he is to have the support and of Chief Justice Taft and Justice Stone of the Supreme vacancy recently occurred in United States Court of the mid-district of Pennsylvania, of which the seat is at Scranton, Lackawanna County. The two leading candidates were Albert L. Biddle, of Philadelphia, and of Scranton, Valentine had a list of endorsements, including 147 of the 200 active members of the Lackawanna County Bar. Watson had the endorsement of 30 lawyers scattered over 22 counties comprising the district, but he had the active support of the Republican State Organization, and it developed later that the head of the Pennsylvania

Attorney-General Mitchell is known to believe that Hopkins' record on the bench and elsewhere does not meet the standard required for the Federal bench, and is reported to have submitted an adverse report on him to President Hoover. Following this report, the Kansas Senators, Allen and Capper, called at the White House last Saturday. After a long conference, they declined to submit the name of a compromise candidate, and declared afterward that they would stand out for the appointment of Hopkins. Consequently, a deadlock exists.

If President Hoover again yields to political pressure, and consents to the name of the man demanded by the politicians, his program for improving the Federal Judiciary may be regarded as permanently sidetracked. Other party leaders will insist on the appointment of their own choices, and will point out that the Pennsylvania and Kansas bosses were accommodated. Attorney-General Mitchell will not relish having his recommendations ignored a second time, and might decide to save himself embarrassment hereafter by recommending the politicians' choices at the outset.

Wilson's eligibility was immediately challenged by the Scranton, an exceptionally independent and vigorous newspaper. Examining the records of the local bars, the Times could find only one contested case in which Watson had appeared as counsel over a period of 26 years, and only one of these in the Federal Court. Stated that nearly all his practice had consisted of uncontested cases, and that at one time recent years he had abandoned practice to become a bond man.

He was appointed County Judge 1928 to fill a vacancy caused by death. The following year he was candidate for renomination, and on morning of the primary issued order which restrained election officials from executing order in connection with the election. It was signed by him and another Judge. Notwithstanding this vigorous measure, he became a candidate for vacant Federal Judgeship, his qualifications were not considered by the Department of Justice, and Attorney-General Mitchell declined to nominate him. Thereupon the Pennsylvania Republican Committee held a meeting in Washington, and resolved to insist upon his appointment.

Wilson's Name Submitted.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The nomination of Albert L. Watson to be an additional judge of the Middle-Western district of Pennsylvania was expected by some senators to lapse today because of failure of the Judiciary Subcommittee to make a report before the Senate recesses for the midsummer.

Chairman Borah of the committee said that he doubted whether the full Judiciary committee could be convened after the subcommittee has completed its work and another report could be sent to the Senate before adjournment.

An effort will be made to clear up two points in contest but Chairman Borah said he was doubtful that

BURDEN OF PRESIDENCY
APPALLING, SAYS COOLIDGE

Former Chief Executive Says Power of Office Is Greater Than That of Emperors.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The presidency of the United States gives its possessors more power than Kings and Emperors possess. Calvin Coolidge declared in his latest literary article which will appear tomorrow in the American Magazine.

In addition to this, he states, the burden of the presidency is "appalling."

"While it is wise for the President to get all the competent advice responsible," Coolidge says, "final judgments are necessarily his own. No one can share with him the responsibility for them. His decisions are final and usually irreparable. The responsibilities the appalling burden of office."

The actual duties of the President, he points out, are but briefly outlined in the Constitution. Every new administration, he says, faces problems that require presidential decisions, and, as a result, new presidential power.

"Yet," continues the former President, "he exercises his authority in true accordance with the Constitution and the law. For all ordinary occasions the specific powers granted to the President in a few brief paragraphs in the Constitution are found sufficient to provide for the welfare of the country. That is all he needs."

president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. This road, it was disclosed, has 25 miles of track inside the district over which Watson would have jurisdiction. In addition to a number of shops and yards, and more than 15,000 of its employees live in the district.

If Watson is not already under obligations to the railroad company, Atterbury's assistance in obtaining the appointment would tend to make him so, it was argued at the hearings. Hence the possibility of Federal injunctions in the event of labor trouble among the road's employees was emphasized.

The hearings are complete. A vigorous fight against confirmation is being waged before the Senate. Their failure to agree to adjourn until it is amended will continue to halt disarmament.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said: "British opinion undoubtedly will approve his proposal as agreeable to common sense, supported by experience. . . . The nation will very willingly listen to Mr. Macdonald's appeal to share helpfully the labor of the Government and enable them to carry it to a successful conclusion."

The Laborite Herald said: "Ambassador Dawes' declaration will be treated here as a business proposal and there should be no doubt the two Governments will be able to do business. Human nature is at it; there is an active desire on both sides not for superiority but for friendship and assured peace. The task may be hard at times, but certainly will be glorious and, if both Governments can count on the full national support for which Mr. Macdonald appeals, success should be assured."

The Daily News, London, dealing especially with the Premier's proposal, said: "The two Governments will be able to do business. Human nature is at it; there is an active desire on both sides not for superiority but for friendship and assured peace. The task may be hard at times, but certainly will be glorious and, if both Governments can count on the full national support for which Mr. Macdonald appeals, success should be assured."

The Old and New Rules.

Under the rules as they stood until today's action, the Senate had to make three nominations of the President and all treaties in secret executive session unless the provisions were thrown open by a two-thirds vote.

The new provision reads that all the business of the Senate pertaining to nominations and treaties shall be considered in open session unless the Senate by a majority vote, taken in closed session, decrees otherwise. It is further stipulated that the injunction of secrecy may be removed as to all or any part of the proceedings by a majority vote, and that the Senate may, without violating the rules, to have a plenary session.

700 RETURN TO MILLS AT WARE SHOALS, S. C.

Crowd Jeers Workers Going Back to Jobs — National Guard on Duty.

By the Associated Press.

WARE SHOALS, S. C., June 19.—Guarded by two companies of National Guardsmen, approximately 700 operators of the Ware Shoals mills returned to work today after being on strike more than two weeks. The mills employ a total of approximately 1700 workers in two shifts.

When the mills opened at 7 o'clock approximately 300 persons, strikers and sympathizers, gathered outside the gates of the mills and hooted and jeered those returned to work. About 150 of the sympathizers, it was asserted, came from Greenville but departed immediately and the last worker had entered the mill.

The National Guard, composed of 60 men under Capt. H. H. Orr, arrived from Greenville during the night and early today machine gun Company H arrived from Columbia by bus. The units total 90 men and are under the direct command of Maj. George Morgan of Greenville.

The request for troops was made last night by three sheriffs of counties in this section.

There has been no union connection with the strike, although R. E. Stamps, president of the mill and among the first to join the strike, grew, said today approximately 800 employees of the mill had joined the United Textile Workers. He said that there had been no election of local union officers.

marked new orientation in British policy and a certain evolution in American policy.

Berlin Press Avoide Editorial Comment on Both Speeches.

BERLIN, June 19.—Berlin morning papers displayed the Dawes and MacDonald speeches most prominently. There was no editorial comment, although the headlines gave some indication of the reception.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung captioned its story "New Era in Anglo-American Relations."

The Deutsches Tageblatt used the line: "Statesmen, Not Admirals, Must Look After Disarmament." The Berlin Presse-Zeitung used the ironical headline, "MacDonald Dawes Agree—in Principle."

Japanese Cautious in Comment on Speeches.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, June 19.—Japanese officialdom was keenly interested, mostly sympathetically, with the speech made by Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Dawes last night.

The Navy Office spokesman was most cautious in discussing the details and expressed the opinion that Ambassador Dawes' "yardstick" might be more difficult to find than civilians believe, but nevertheless reiterated the Navy's willingness to co-operate in a renewed attempt for limitation.

It is no secret that Ambassador Matsudaira's recent reports from London, including Tuesday's speeches, have been unusually voluminous indicating that he is close to all sources of developments. These reports are being closely studied.

The Foreign Office spokesman said there was no dissenting voice in the chorus of official approval of the Dawes-MacDonald voice in the chorus of official approval of the Dawes-MacDonald utterances and no feeling that the Anglo-Saxons were trying to "boss the show." Japan whole-heartedly was ready to contribute her tithe, as Premier Tanaka already had stated.

Foreign Office circles pointed out that the suggestion by Ambassador Dawes for final negotiations limited to the statesmen instead of to naval officers was tried out in practice at the Washington conference of 1922, where success was largely owing to the fact that the experts were confined to the preliminaries and the decisions left to Secretary of State Hughes, Lord Balfour and Baron Kato.

The afternoon newspapers showed that press interest had been aroused by the disarmament prospects, the news overshadowing domestic and Chinese questions. London dispatches were displayed in the first news position with large headlines, the majority picturing Ambassador Dawes with his famous pipe.

the required witnesses could reach Washington in time.

Sen. Reed said the appointment could be confirmed if the Senate would agree to stay in session until 10 o'clock.

The group opposing confirmation of Watson today called before the Borah subcommittee witnesses for questioning as to their reasons for asking the rejection of President Hoover's appointee, who was selected at the insistence of the Pennsylvania Republican organization.

Dr. Anne C. Clarke, chairman of the Scranton League of Women Voters, said Watson "lacked independence of thought," while Mrs. Marian Gresham, legislative chairman for the Lackawanna County W. C. T. U., declared she was opposed to him "because of his political backing" and because "he is not qualified."

Alfred Bright, an insurance agent, who testified he was active in local politics, contended Watson had promised him a fair deal in a local political decision but later did not write the opinion in the case as he had indicated he would.

Sam Winstein, a life insurance agent and political worker, said Watson had "double-crossed" the group favoring Gifford Pinchot for the Senate, while Sander Kovacs, also active in local politics, declared Watson had "double-crossed" the school board if the Kovacs group would pledge him support for Pinchot to the Common Pleas bench.

BERLIN, June 19.—The Womfavoring the introduction in various legislatures of a system of government "family allowances," making allowance for the cost of rearing

The resolution especially urged that allowances for children should be paid to the mother.

By the Associated Press.
WINDSOR, Ont., June 19.—After a revolver fight in Detroit River early today liquor runners in the East Windsor sector retreated into Canadian waters after shooting a hole in the prow of a United States customs patrol boat. There were no known casualties.

The liquor runners deliberately opened fire without notice on the American boat, Walter S. Petty, Acting Collector of Customs at Detroit, said. His men returned the volleys and chased the intruders back to the Canadian shore.

The shooting started, Petty said, when the liquor craft was about 100 feet off the foot of Joseph Campbell avenue in Detroit. The border patrol boat was gliding downstream and was about 50 feet from the runner when its crew of 10 men blazed away suddenly with revolvers.

"Our men returned the fire promptly," Petty added. "The liquor runners swung about and retreated toward Canada, maintaining heavy fire at our boat."

Petty charges that the firing from the liquor boat continued long after it had fled into Canadian waters. The border boat abandoned the chase at the international line.
The police could not determine the number of men on the liquor boat as they hid behind a high stack of liquor cases as they emptied their weapons at the customs cruiser.

statement to the Comptroller of the Currency with knowledge that it was false, stated the amount of loans to individuals and concealed embodiment of $12,500.

Albert C. Mountz, president of the institution, was sentenced to two years in the Leavenworth Penitentiary yesterday when he pleaded guilty of misappropriating $24,000, conspiracy to make a false financial statement and concealment of the amount of loans.

The cashier, Glen G. Elam, pledged fidelity yesterday to make a false statement to the Comptroller of the Currency, but it was not used by the Government as a witness against Voris. A parole will be recommended by District Attorney Baker.

NEW SET OF UTILITIES UP SHARPLY ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A new group of public utilities were whirled upward in today's curb market as the Morgan group of upper New York State power stocks relinquished the lead. The general market followed an irregular course with last hour selling cutting down the gains of the leaders.

The volume of sales tapered off as the mercury climbed higher. Call money held at 7 per cent all day. Fresh shipments of gold from London and Argentina were announced. Several of the utilities clambered up new peaks, while a handful of industrials and specialties mounted to new heights. Electric Bond & Share and Electric Investors both having practically the same set of officers, were the features of the power group. Both shot up five points to new highs. Bond & Share jumping to 111 1/2 and Electric Investors to 180. New highs also were established by American Gas & Electric, Allied Power & Light, Central States Electric issues, Midway Industries, Columbus Electric and National Fuel Gas. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore continued strong, closing up five points at 130 1/4.

Selling was encountered by Mohawk Hudson Power, Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern issues, Northeastern Power, and United Gas Improvement old and new stocks.

Middle West Utilities is an Insull property that has been reporting increased earnings. American Light & Traction, affiliated with United Power & Light, which in turn is controlled by an interest associated with the Mellon-Koppers group and Bonbright & Co., is reported involved in a midwest gas merger. Central States Electric owns more than 600,000 shares of North American, which has been strong on the "big board." Electric Investors, operated by Electric Bond & Share officers, holds stocks in a strong group of utilities as well as industrial companies.

ART CRITIC FINDS BEST OF U. S. IN EUROPE

Saint Gaudens Returns From Abroad; Exhibit to Be Shown in St. Louis.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 18.—Homer Saint Gaudens, director of the Arts of Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, who returned yesterday on the Ile de France from a trip abroad, said that Europe was rapidly becoming Americanized.

The Europeans, taking the best of American goods, and adding them to what is good of their own, pass us in the matter of living, Saint Gaudens said. "The European knows how to enjoy life more than we do," he stated.

In Europe more people visit the art galleries and art is discussed more in the newspapers and at afternoon teas, he said. His trip abroad was to obtain European representation of paintings in the Carnegie International Exhibition, to be held in Pittsburgh in September.

He visited artists in Great Britain, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Russia, Sweden, Belgium, Holland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Switzerland, all of which countries will be represented in the Internationale.

The battle of the traditionalist and modernist in European art is over, Saint Gaudens said, and "the extreme on both sides are licked.

What is coming out of the battle is a group of artists who do not cling to tradition and who do not just try to express themselves, but the life about them."

The European paintings to be entered in the International exhibition will be shown at Baltimore and St. Louis after the exhibition closes at Pittsburgh, he said.

A Nice Girl Enters the Case and the Young Man Who Just Couldn't Go Straight Lands in Prison Back in California.

SUMMARY: Donald Paul Wood, a nice young man active in religious work, disappears from his position as Assistant Cashier of a San Francisco hotel. Several thousand dollars in express travelers' cheques disappear at the same time. Wood goes to Los Angeles, cashes part of the cheques and takes a train for the East, leaving his name behind him.

CHAPTER NINE.

A VERY NICE GIRL. THE detective starts with the handicap of being forced to reconstruct the crime and discover the plans of the criminal in the same hours that the latter is using to get away from the scene of his crime.

"W. A." had a few days' start on his plan, but then he had to let him finish his rail and lose himself in the more populous East. All the detectives had to go on was this—he was a hand-some lad in gymnasium clothes or a bathing suit and he was a frequenter of Y. M. C. A. gyms. He was just a little vain about his physical shapeliness. They also knew that at some time in his career he had lived in New York. A rather thin collection of clews.

While the wires and cables of warning the express world against the full story of his cheques, the Company's New York detectives went forth into the metropolis to see what they might be able to find. All this time the company was under a handicap. The missing cashier might have sold some of the cheques to a bona fide purchaser and appropriated the money; that wouldn't be the purchaser's fault and the company could not send out a general order to arrest anyone who might present a pile of the missing paper. That would make trouble for an entirely innocent customer.

The detectives who were investigating the several Y. M. C. A. branches in New York had had no luck and they were nearly through the list. One day two of them dropped in one of the West Side branches of the great organization. Professing themselves to be in search of a friend, they showed a photograph of the missing man to the "I" telephone girl. Her face brightened up at once.

"Why, of course, I know Fred," she exclaimed. "He was in here just the evening before last and I invited me to go to a show with him some time this week. You see, I've known him for several years—ever since he was in New York before—and he's such a nice young man! He started to tell me about the kidnap, but when he got to the last word when she had only one in a class of 50 law students at Washington University received her degree as Bachelor of Law."

Reared in an atmosphere in which she absorbed much legal and political knowledge Mrs. Hardy as Jane Smith Tillman daughter of the late George Newton Tillman, a well-known lawyer and later Circuit Judge of Nashville, Tenn., feels that she perhaps naturally inherited her father's legal ability. During Judge Tillman's lifetime he was a picturesque figure in his community. He was the leader of the Republican party in Tennessee and was twice candidate for Governor of that State. Birmingham, Alabama, Nashville, and soon after her graduation from that school she married and came to St. Louis to make her home. A woman of unusual charm and grace Mrs. Hardy is a typical home maker and while pursuing her law course she has had the care of a large home and three children. George Tillman, 15 years; Thomas Walter Jr., 13 years, and Louis, 12 years, required much of her but when her chance came she started her course in law and was graduated with four "B's" to her credit.

The girl looked at her two visitors doubtfully for a moment and then she nodded her head. "Why, yes, there is," she answered, and led them into an empty office. She was nice and friendly, but kept her jaw dropped.

She closed the door, asked the two detectives to sit down and took a chair herself. She waited a moment and then began the conversation.

The Girl Agrees to Set a Trap

"NOW, gentlemen," she said, her face very sober and her eyes keen. "I think you owe me a very complete explanation of what brought you here. You seem to be very anxious for information about Fred Weston, friend. I don't like this sort of living and I want to know what it is all about before I say a word. In the first place, who are you?"

The detectives had decided that they would be entirely frank. Their knowledge of human nature told them that subterfuge would be unavailing with this girl.

We are American Express Company detectives," replied one of them. Both produced their credentials and offered them to her for inspection.

The girl took the documents mechanically and glanced at them for a moment. Then she looked up at them for very evident puzzlement.

"Detectives," she exclaimed. "In the first place, we've dropped off in the middle of a sentence."

"We want Fred Weston," one of the detectives explained.

The girl's eyes rounded in astonishment and her jaw dropped.

"You want Fred?" she gasped.

"What for?"

"$37,000 from us in San Francisco," shot back one of the detectives.

The girl burst into laughter. She laughed and laughed—not hysterical laughter, either. Just amusement.

"How silly!" she said, at last, lifting the tears from her eyes. "I never told any one anybody."

Skirts Are to Be Longer Than in Several Years and the Waistline Will Be Raised, He Points Out.

By CAPT. EDWARD MOLYNEUX.

PARIS, June 12.—Have been asked whether my visit to America has influenced my new collection. The answer is yes and no. I cannot say I have designed my new models under the influence of what I saw in America, but undoubtedly I was helped by the view of all that I saw.

It is always a stimulus to the mind to see new countries, although stimulus does not necessarily mean inspiration. As a matter of fact, whatever is done in the world of dress, I am absolutely convinced that Paris is the real home of all creative design in this particular field of artistic activity.

When I was in America I saw some of the creations of New York designers. These were often very good, but they showed no individual creative sense. Each model was composed of different ideas that had already been treated in Paris. I saw nothing that I could truthfully say was new to me. However much other countries may do to foster the development of native dress designing, I am absolutely convinced that during the lifetime of this generation at the very least, Paris will be the home of all creative thought in dress and all inspiration.

Speaking for myself alone, I am sure it is only in Paris that I could design really successful clothes myself. If I went to London or New York, accustomed as I am to devoting myself to this work, I should feel the lack of that something tangible in the Paris atmosphere; the Paris life, and the sympathetic collaboration of all the allied creative industries of fabric manufacturers and accessories. You cannot get away from the fact that Paris has been the home of dress inspiration for centuries, and it will continue to be its source and inspiration until a general intellectual upheaval takes place, something corresponding to the fall of the Greek and Roman empires.

UT to return to America, I cannot say that the wonderful well-known appearance of American women, I have never seen so many women in the mass all absolutely sound and making the best of themselves. They are a little bit hard Paris in spite of the fact that American buyers flock over here four times a year and deliver our newest creations as fast as the newest Atlantic liners can deliver them.

What struck me as the difference between American and Parisian dress standards was the fact that American women still present that aspect of uniformity that is gradually disappearing in Paris. I do not claim that in Paris every woman looks individual; but they have lost that regimental appearance against which we have all been protesting so much during the past few years. This proves to me that it is a good thing to say something not once, but as many times as you can find people to listen or read. You cannot hope to put over a reform of any kind in one. You have to say a thing over and over again before it is accepted and understood by the general public. We have been saying for so long that dress must become more feminine and more individual that now, in Paris at least, it actually has become so. After all, there is something in propaganda!

I think the reason that American women are still somewhat uniform

ian dress standards was the fact that American women still present that aspect of uniformity that is gradually disappearing in Paris. I do not claim that in Paris every woman looks individual; but they have lost that regimental appearance against which we have all been protesting so much during the past few years. This proves to me that it is a good thing to say something not once, but as many times as you can find people to listen or read. You cannot hope to put over a reform of any kind in one. You have to say a thing over and over again before it is accepted and understood by the general public. We have been saying for so long that dress must become more feminine and more individual that now, in Paris at least, it actually has become so. After all, there is something in propaganda!

I think the reason that American women are still somewhat uniform ly dressed is due to the fact that although they take dress much more seriously than do Europeans; not excepting the Parisienne, they have less fashion initiative. They take more notice of what certain women considered to be fashion leaders are wearing. The Parisienne is inclined to wear something original as long as it bears no trace of eccentricity, just because she thinks it chic and suitable to herself. I saw no trace of this in American women; and this makes us think, there can be no question of America leading fashions until the intellectual revolution of which I spoke above had taken place. As things are, Paris is much quicker to take up new ideas.

WE are undoubtedly on the brink of a new epoch in dress.

The line is definitely changing.

Skirts will be longer than they have been for several years, though

I do not expect them to be long all around, but in the case of some individual evening gowns. The more revolutionary change is the raising of the waistline. This has been attempted before, but it did not materialize because it was done too suddenly. The eye of the general public was not ready for anything so drastic. Personally, although I am raising my waistlines, I am doing it gradually. I never believe in any violent changes in fashion. All change should take form of a gradual evolution so that women are able to adopt it easily.

When it takes several seasons to materialize we do not have women complaining that this or that change does not suit them. They adopt it by degrees and then, when it has actually become an accomplished fact, they wonder why they ever wore any other line.

What specially interests me in myself is the fact that the new silhouette is all at comfortable. Many patients have been killed or seriously injured by being transported to "safety" before shock has been overcome.

Don't fail to practice artificial respiration in cases of electric shock, apparent drowning, and poisoning by gases, as by carbon monoxide gas or illuminating gas.

Turn the patient front down with the face to one side and compress the short ribs forcibly and rhythmically at intervals of about three seconds.

Do not fail to fix a broken arm or leg so it will move as little as possible by using any stiff thing for a splint and tying it on with a cravat bandage.

Do not fail to treat a burn with pectin acid gauze if you have it, or if you haven't it, cover the area with moistened baking soda thick enough to keep out the air.

Don't fail to keep the patient lying down, apply heat, give some stimulant or, if that is impossible, some well-diluted aromatic oil or ammonia and apply heat to the extremities, but especially to the pit of the stomach.

Don't be in too big a hurry about transporting the patient, if his condition is at all comfortable. Many patients have been transported to "safety" before shock has been overcome.

To set the color in pink material soak in vinegar solution; for blue goods use a strong salt solution.

THE NEW FAN-TAIL SILHOUETTE

THE lengthened skirt line in its newest version achieves a fan-tail silhouette. This is adapted to daytime as well as evening dress, in the former case or course being a more suggestion.

For this effect the line of the skirt is straight across the front and slightly curved in the rear portion, so as to give more fullness than the front.

This fullness sometimes is evolved through circular cuts, so that makes it decidedly of the coming season rather than the current one, inasmuch as the back length is very much disrupted and the generally lengthened one to which we have become accustomed. At best and at least the fan-tail silhouette in all its interpretations is another step in the direction of added length in skirts.

A lump of butter inside the roast chicken will make it lovely and moist.

What specially interests me in

Finds on Visit to America
That Women Here Present a More Uniform Appearance Than Europeans.

my present midseason collection I have the latest cretonne and printed on washing frocks for beach wear. Some of these are made with wide skirts and with trousers underneath. They are the very ones for those who are not strong for the beach. I have taken such a strong hold on Europeans. When you are lead the life of a lotus eater, basking in the sunlight, lazing on the sand all day, you need dresses designed for that purpose. It is not every woman who looks best in pajamas. Indeed, it is on certain beaches that pajamas are the thing. Therefore you may have dresses that are suitable beach life in places where the pajama has not yet penetrated, or only adopted by the few.

I am glad to say that in the future because I am thinking out my next collection, having chosen the fabric that will go to build it up. As I am concerned, there will be no revolutionary change; because I always keep to my own line and change very gradually, taking little or no heed of what other dressmakers are doing.

ONE thing I will tell you, that is, that although the general outline of the new dress is simple, it contains the really extremely difficult to make. There is an infinite number of very complicated seams, each one which plays an important part in the general effect of the dress. I cannot believe any copyist could possibly reproduce any of the dresses in my present collection without having the pattern laid flat before him. That is why the season relatively few copies of first-class models are seen. This is the only simple or means that the real lead of fashion is going to be concentrated on the creations of fewer and few first-class houses in the future; only those who have devoted years of study to this difficult art can produce the difficult dresses that are the fashion today.

This is all to the advantage women who dress in first-class houses, for they have not the annoyance of seeing their expensive gowns repeated in cheap stores everywhere. I think the major of American buyers will appreciate the fact that when they buy modern gowns they get real value for their money, and not, after something that might have been done better in New York.

Helping Ella Cinders Decide

DE SOTO, Mo. out there and started your adventure? What good times you and Blackie had. If you really love him? Then marry him. If not, stop on the headlights and back to the stage. Isn't that a simple way to solve your problem and fit right? We can't understand why you seek the advice of experienced aunts who think they know, because they've been married for at least 20 years. That is your problem and not ours, but we're to help you decide right. You know you may wreck your life by speaking the wrong word. As you think best, but if you decide to stay on the stage, get a manager (the ring curl kind), use. Hurry up and decide before this month of lover's June is gone.

THE BUBBLE TWINS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Dear Ella: It seems to me that a sweet girl like you would not be so mercenary. Please do not run out to get a "sugar" you get more than you want girl. I am a devoted admirer of yours, but I would like to think that you have even situated when you love him to marry Jim. Be more than a girl.

MARY EILEEN.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Dear Ella: The West comes your hero; Marry him and be gay, could your career flop, you're "zero." So, please, Ella, just set the day.

u know the world loves a lover, and Jim Blunt surely loves you; send him aires you can have, if you'll only say "do it."

ROSE MARIE.

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. Dear Ella: My advice to you is to give Jim into a trial like, to see if he really loves you as he claims. If he does, then marry him, but try to get him to go in with you as a he could help you by giving you his suggestions in your acts. Then during your vacation you could go to Jim's ranch or visit it every ek end.

RUTH BOYER.

CHRISTOPHER, Ill. Dear Ella: Please marry Jim and go West, you remember when you were arrested. What could be a more perfect month than to be married. If you do, you will get you a real thing money can buy. Marry Jim Blunt and have a big wedding. Marry Jim Blunt for my sake and my brother's sake; please do. Marry Jim Blunt and go West. You will have much more fun riding horses on Jim's ranch than making whoopee in New York. I advise you to marry Jim and go West.

KATHLEEN CRUM.
BUDDIE CRUM.

SHERMAN, Mo. Dear Ella: Since you have been single this long, and have not married yet, why not give up stage career and marry Jim. Ella, can't you see how much Jim wants you to be with him. He loves you and I think you love him. Jim is true, and he is an honest man, he would fight anything that would try to harm you. Just look how many times he has helped you out. If I were you I would go West and marry Jim and be Mrs. J. Blunt. If I was in your place I would marry Jim and be his wife.

VIVIAN BEARD.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Dear Ella: Why not marry Jim Blunt and surprise your father with a little grandchild when he returns from China. I tell you, Ella, I advise you to give up your stage career, marry Jim and go West. I think you would love to see the cowboys ride the horses and do all kinds of funny stunts, because from what I see at the theater I love it myself, so marry Jim and make Jim, yourself, and everyone else happy. Remember, Ella, Jim has fought a lot of brave things for you, thinks that your little arms were not strong enough to fight.
